

Garrett Parcell

Garrett Michael Parcell was born July 12, 1984, in Corona, Calif., Son of Gary and Michelle Parcell.

Garrett Parcell was one of seven San Diego State Aztecs to be taken in the 2007 amateur draft.

He was named to the All-Orange Empire Conference second team during his junior college career. Prior to the Marlins drafting him in 2007, Parcell was drafted in the 41st round by the Seattle Mariners in 2004 before deciding to attend SDSU.

The 6'5 Parcell has an easy delivery with a classic 3/4 arm slot that allows him to repeat his throwing motion. His fastball runs in the high 80s, low 90s range but it's his 2 other pitches which allow him to miss as many bats as he does. He can throw his change-up as low as 69mph and his curve-ball in the mid 70s. He mixes all 3 pitches in well and that led to him to great success in his first tour of duty in Jamestown in 2007.
