

Scott Mathieson

Scott Mathieson was drafted by the Philadelphia Phillies in the 2002 Major League draft. He was called up to the majors in June 2006. Scott 25, has now pitched at all levels of baseball including Rookie ball, Low A, High A, Advanced A, AA, AAA, Major Leagues, Jr National team, Sr National team, Olympic team, and the Innagural World Baseball Classic, with team Canada, all in 8 years of professional baseball.

In 2005 Scott was named the most valuable pitcher for the Clearwater Threshers in the Florida State League, the top pitching prospect in the star studded Arizona Fall League, represented the Phillies at the Futures Game at the MLB All Star game in Detroit, played on the Canadian Sr National team in Amsterdam as well as the Canadian Olympic team in Phoenix, Arizona.

The 2006 season started in March with Scott pitching a scoreless 8th inning in the Canadian victory over the USA at the World Baseball Classic, he then went on to start the season for the AA Reading Phillies and was named to the Eastern League allstar first team and the Phillies organization player of the month in May. Upon being called up to the majors in June, Scott was leading all minor league pitchers in strikeouts and had a 10-2 win/loss record. The 6'4, 230lb righty features a high 90's fastball, slider and plus changeup.

In September 2006 Scott had the first of two Tommy Johns surgeries and an additional elbow surgery. He began pitching again, after a two and a half year absence, in June 2009 finishing the year in AA with the Reading Phillies. He was then invited back to the Arizona Fall League where he pitched well enough to be added back to the Phillies 40 man roster
